Price Index Methodology

Introduction

ChemOrbis brings clarity and reality to polymer pricing. Our goal is to continuously provide the most up-to-date and accurate reports of prices available in the market so that our members can make appropriate and profitable trading decisions.

The Price Indexes are an important tool for our members' contract business, whether it is between buyers and sellers in the polymer market or between converters and their end customers.

ChemOrbis also offers detailed origin-based indexes for major spot markets including China, Southeast Asia and Türkiye without adjusting the delivery terms, payment terms and duties. We hereby aim to reflect the most representative price ranges the same way market players use them in their daily trading routine.

Price Indexes consist of the prices gathered from the sources involved in the reported transaction and editorial price assessments published in Weekly Analysis throughout the week. Prices are collected each week from a wide range of sources both on the buy and sell side of polymer transactions and assessed by the experienced Market Intelligence team of ChemOrbis.

The ChemOrbis system is unique in that the collection and reporting of market information is done by an extensive local team located within each region covered. All reported prices are put through rigorous analytical tests, including netback and cost analysis, before the decision is made to include them in the Price Index by the Market Intelligence team.

To perform quality assurance, ChemOrbis requires all editors/analysts to justify their decision for their weekly Price Index assessment to their competent peer or manager before the publication. This process helps minimize bias and leads to true objectivity.

All ChemOrbis employees are also required to stick to the Ethical Code of iLab Ventures, of which ChemOrbis is a subsidiary company, to ensure their commitment to integrity, honesty, objectivity and transparency in all decisions while performing their job.

Accordingly, all editors/analysts of ChemOrbis Market Intelligence team must adhere to the neutrality policy of ChemOrbis, which assures that none of our company members is involved directly or indirectly in any kind of trading activity and has any commercial interest on either side of the trading.

Methodology: Principles in Practice

Price Collection and Assessment

The Price Index represents a market range that comprises actual, real prices available in the market and the price assessments for the most representative combinations of product/grade, origin, country/region and transaction type in every market and product group within a particular week.

Prices are collected daily by local teams located within each region covered and all price reports are gathered in a pool in ChemOrbis admin system.

Price ranges reported in ChemOrbis admin system include real offers given, real offers received and real done deals, checked on the buy-sell side. Then, they are assessed by the Market Intelligence team for weekly price indexes.

Editorial price assessment is the decision-making process that takes technical netback and cost analysis tools into account as well as supply-demand fundamentals of each market. Accordingly, ChemOrbis Price Index Methodology ensures more accurate, sustainable and clear price ranges every week.

In the event that no offers given or received and no done deals are reported in a particular week, then the range will be only composed of the price assessments on the days of the publication of Weekly Analysis.

ChemOrbis reserves the right to reject prices which are deemed unusual, available only with specific conditions which are not repeatable for all players or are considered too far outside the range of prices.

To perform quality assurance, ChemOrbis requires all editors/analysts to justify their decision for their weekly Price Index assessment to their competent peer or manager before the publication.

Neutrality policy

ChemOrbis assures that none of our company members is involved directly or indirectly in any kind of trading activity and has any commercial interest on either side of the trading. All editors/analysts of ChemOrbis contributing to the production and publication of Price Indexes are contractually expected to adhere to this policy.

Trading Details

Import prices included in the range are for shipments which will take place within 30 days of the transaction.

The week number refers to the actual date of the transaction, not the date the price is reported to ChemOrbis.

The minimum cargo size is 20 metric tons.

Prices are for commodity polymers, also know as commodity plastics, with standard quality conditions. Cargoes with high or low quality are disregarded in Price Indexes.

Publication Schedule

ChemOrbis Price Index is revealed on the days of the publication of Weekly Analysis and frozen for the current week on Friday after 5:00 pm GMT+3, except for Egypt, where they are frozen on Sunday after 5:00 pm GMT+3.

Weekly Analysis is published for monomers on Mondays, PVC and PET on Wednesdays, PP and PE on Thursdays, and PS and ABS on Fridays.

There are also monthy reports published for recycled and engineering polymers, and biopolymers in the last week of each month for NWE and Türkiye. Their monthly indexes are revealed in line with the publication of reports. These indexes are frozen in the same week on Friday after 5:00 pm GMT+3.
Monthly Contract Prices indexes for Northwest Europe and Italy are also revealed in the last week of each month and frozen in the same week on Friday after 5:00 pm GMT+3.

Monthly reports for Middle East and Africa are published in the second week of each month while Egypt’s PET and PS reports are published in the first week of each month. However, their indexes are revealed weekly.

Local Contract

Italy Contract Price Indexes refer to the monthly agreements made by converters with the main European producers based on a negotiable price which may be fixed in the middle or the end of the month. Settled prices are negotiated between the parties based on changes in monomer costs and the performance of supply and demand. This special agreement allows buyers to receive a bonus discount at the end of the year based on previous estimates of the volumes to be purchased. Thus, all contract prices are on gross basis.

Contract Index is based solely on concluded agreements for the month as reported by the buyers and sellers. It does not include offers received or given nor sell or buy ideas.

Italy Contract Price Indexes are published on a monthly basis according to settlements reported throughout the month.
